

Union Celebrates Labor Day With Picnic At Boothton

Speeches By Labor Leaders And Musical Numbers Are Included In Program

Organized labor of this district had a grand outing on Monday when the Shelby County Industrial Council sponsored a picnic and barbecue at Boothton.

It was estimated that more than a thousand people were in attendance. Refreshments of cold drinks and ice cream were plentiful, with a huge barbeque served at noon. Along with the barbecued meats, there was plenty of camp stew, salads, and other fixings.

On the picnic grounds a speakers' stand was erected and provided with loudspeakers to carry the program of music and public addresses to everyone in the huge crowd.

Addresses suitable to the Labor Day celebration were made by Virgil E. Pierson and W. H. Huie. Mr. Pierson is international representative of the United Retail, Wholesale and Warehouse Employees of America.

Mr. Huie is representative of District 20, United Mine Workers of America.

The music program consisted of songs and selections by different local boys and girls.

Direction of the program was in charge of Mr. D. W. Harper who is president of the Shelby County Industrial Council. Mr. Harper made announcements of the program from the platform and introduced the visiting speakers. He was assisted by Mr. C. Booth, president of Local No. 5798. Devotional was in charge of Mr. Cary.

In the afternoon the people enjoyed a baseball game.

URMI LEE ANDERSON NOW AT WOOTEN'S

The many friends of Mr. Urmie Lee Anderson in Montevallo will be again, this time we hope, for keeps. He has taken a position at Wooten again, this we hope, for keeps. He has taken a position at Wooten Motor Co., Ford dealers, where he is in charge of the parts department.

Mr. Anderson worked in Montevallo some years ago and he made many friends while here. He will continue to live at his home south of Calera and drive here to his work every day.

French And German Students May Not Come To Montevallo

The European war has had a direct effect on Alabama College, as two of the four foreign exchange students are now unlikely to be able to make the Atlantic crossing so as to begin their studies at the state college for women. The adviser of foreign students, Dr. Lorraine Pierson, professor of foreign languages, this week expressed the opinion that Miss Ilse-Lore Muller from Berlin Germany, and Miss Jacqueline Aramberri from Bordeaux, France, will probably have to cancel their registrations. The demands of the conflict now raging between their respective countries overshadow personal plans. The Atlantic crossing is deemed too hazardous, and both girls, it is felt, will be drafted into some one of the women's auxiliary services which will interrupt—perhaps permanently—their plans to study in America.

Two other foreign students will be able to undertake their work at Montevallo. A Spanish refugee from Madrid, Miss Incarnacion

FIRST BALE OF COTTON GINNED MONDAY

The first bale of cotton of this season was ginned in Montevallo Monday by the Brown Gin Co. It was brought in by Mr. R. T. Crowson, of Randolph, Rt. 1.

The bale weighed 436 pounds and was bought by J. A. Brown for the price of 10 cents a pound.

"Our gin is in first-class shape," says Mr. J. A. Brown, "and we are ready to give the farmers of this territory the very best service in handling their cotton."

Huntingdon College Opens Sept. 12th

Montgomery, Ala. — Huntingdon College will begin the 1939-40 session on September 12 with an increased enrollment, representing twelve states, and with practically every southern state represented in the student body, according to President Hubert Searcy. Students have also entered from Rhode Island, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Michigan, and one foreign country. The orientation program for new students will begin on September 12 at 8 a.m. Special tests will be given in English and foreign languages, designed to enable superior students to take advanced work in these fields without unnecessary repetition of the regular freshman course. Student leaders will also plan an interesting social program for the orientation period. The annual ice cream party given by Mr. F. M. Jackson, of Birmingham, for the Huntingdon student body, will take place Thursday afternoon, September 14, on the lawn of the Miriam Jackson Home on the campus.

Registration of all students will take place September 13-14. A special convocation will be held in the college chapel Thursday at 8 p.m., and will be followed by a reception in the "Y" hut on the campus. The first general assembly will be held in the college chapel at 10 a.m. Friday. Classes will begin Friday, September 15, at 8 a.m. Preceding the orientation week, student leaders will gather at Camp Grandview, September 8-10, for the annual "Retreat," at which they will plan the student program for the college year.

New faculty members added for the coming year include Mrs. Mary Lee Collins, Birmingham, formerly with Columbia University, student counselor; and Miss Blancham Fraser, of Mississippi, formerly on the faculty at Alabama College, assistant professor of commerce.

Mrs. Denson Elliott has returned from a visit with Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Cox, who were former residents of Montevallo, and are now situated in Hazelhurst, Mississippi. Friends of Rev. and Mrs. Cox will be pleased to know of his nice congregation and the position he occupies.

Miss Aramberri

Miss Muller

Marayta, whose family were loyalist sympathizers in the recent civil war, has signified that she will be able to come. Miss Kapsoon Kim, a Korean girl, is returning for her second year.

The three European girls were to have been sponsored at Alabama College by the Institute of International Education, an organization designed to promote good will between nations through the exchange of college students between America and Europe.

Mrs. Jeter Named On Tuberculosis Group

In recognition of her long and continued interest in the organized fight against tuberculosis, Mrs. M. P. Jeter, prominent civic leader of Montevallo, has been named to active membership in the Southern Tuberculosis Conference.

Accompanying her membership card, which was sent to Mrs. Jeter by Mr. J. P. Kranz, secretary-treasurer of the conference, was the following letter:

"Because of your long interest in the fight against tuberculosis in Alabama we are sending you herewith a membership certificate in the Southern Tuberculosis Conference, the organization which for many years has led this campaign in the thirteen southern states. Dues have been paid in your name, by the Alabama Tuberculosis Association. It is our hope that you will accept this membership as a small token of our own esteem and appreciation, and as an evidence of your continued interest, as one of the South's civic leaders, in this problem which so heavily burdens us."

For many years Mrs. Jeter has been director of the anti-tuberculosis campaign in Shelby County. Her excellent work in this capacity is highly deserving of the honor and recognition which has been given her by membership in the Southern Conference. The annual meeting of the conference will be held in Charleston, S. C., October 4-6 this year.

Mrs. Bruce In Hospital In Scotland

Mrs. Isobel Campbell Bruce, associate professor of sociology at Alabama College, has been definitely reported as among the survivors of the torpedoed Athenia, British liner which was sunk by a bomb explosion in the Atlantic Ocean last Sunday night.

College authorities had been informed Mrs. Bruce intended to sail August 26 from Scotland, where she had spent her vacation. It is now believed she was unable to obtain passage at the time she had planned.

It has been stated by news dispatches that Mrs. Bruce was injured in the explosion that wrecked the Athenia, and that she was placed in a hospital at Greenock, Scotland when the refugees from the ill-fated liner were returned to port.

Mrs. Warner was a native of Chilton County but she had made her home in Selma since she was a young woman. She was the widow of Berr Clark Warner and a sister of the late Dr. B. B. Rogan of Selma. She was married Feb. 28, 1872, at Montevallo. Her husband's death occurred in 1894.

Surviving are a brother, F. W. Rogan, of Montevallo; five nephews, Paul, Bruce, and William Rogan of Montevallo; James McLean of Fort Worth, Texas; and Barney Burns Rogan, of Pittsburgh; and four nieces, Mrs. James Simpson, Montevallo; Mrs. Allen, Mrs. John A. Hazing Freshmen is Out of Date

Friendly Welcome is Substituted for "Ratting" Practice at Alabama College

"Ratting and hazing" of freshmen at Alabama College is as out-of-date as hoop-skirts on the campus," said Dr. Minnie L. Steckel, student counselor, this week in explaining the orientation program which now goes on during a new girl's first week at the State College for Women.

"Instead of pranks and tricks to annoy newcomers, nearly 100 upperclassmen come back to do all they can to make them at ease and happy amid new surroundings," Miss Steckel explained. The work is done through the six major college organizations—the Y. W. C. A., the student government association, the Presidents Council, the Publications Committee, the Athletic Association and Executive Board. Their representatives are waiting at the station to receive the trainloads and busloads of new students, taking charge of baggage, getting them to their rooms, and then when there is a spare moment, ushering them to the college pool for an informal splash party, or step singing on the steps of Main Dormitory, which is the traditional home of freshmen at Montevallo.

How all this got started was recalled by Miss Steckel. "A number of years ago," she said, "because of the severity of 'ratting' of freshmen, the student government, backed by the administration, ruled such practices out altogether. To replace this questionable behavior, the girls began long in advance, to plan a more hospitable reception for the 350 girls who were to enroll the following fall."

Students Find New Buildings And New Faculty Members On Returning To School

With a near record-breaking enrollment from every section of the state, with new buildings complete and nearing completion, and with many new faces on the faculty, Alabama College Tuesday began its forty-fourth annual session.

College officials report that the girls enrolling are drawn more evenly from all parts of Alabama than ever before. Although temporarily somewhat cramped for space due to the remodeling of Reynolds Hall and the large enrollment, some of the congestion will be relieved in the late fall when Comer Hall, new classroom building and Tutwiler Hall, new dormitory, are ready for occupancy. These two buildings were made available to the college during its present building program through grants from the Public Works Administration and through loans negotiated by the Board of Trustees.

Comer Hall, housing classrooms and faculty offices, will also include a soundproof broadcasting studio for college radio activities, and a lecture hall seating 200. Tutwiler Hall has accommodation for 102 girls, as well as matron's apartment, recreation rooms, and foyers. The capacity of the library has been more than doubled with the addition of a wing and, according to Miss Abi Russell, librarian, the building will now house 95,000 books. During the summer a new elementary training school was completed and has been named for the late Miss Mary Alice Boyd, for many years principal of the training school. Remodeling of Reynolds Hall was begun in mid-summer at a cost of $36,000. It will be converted into a college union building where the social life of the students will center. In its new role it will house a tea room, the postoffice, dining rooms, kitchens, alumnae office, student government office, as well as other miscellaneous activities. The gymnasium will become Reynolds Theatre.

Among those included on the faculty for the first time this year is Mr. Jack Warfield, who will assist

THE FIRST SHOCK

In varying degrees the first realization of the war in Europe have come to cities, towns, and communities in the United States during the past week.

Effects of the first demonstrations of war's destructive and horrifying spectacle have been of more than the ordinary general shock in Montevallo. This because one of our outstanding citizens, Mrs. Isabel Bruce, was among the injured passengers on the British liner Athenia, when it was torpedoed and sunk in the Atlantic Ocean last Sunday night. Mrs. Bruce, professor of sociology at Alabama College, is reported to be now in a hospital in Scotland.

A further direct effect of the war is noted at Alabama College, as two of the four foreign exchange students are regarded as now unlikely to be able to make the Atlantic crossing to begin their studies at Montevallo as planned.

It is stated at the college that Miss Ilse-Lore Muller from Berlin, Germany, and Miss Jacqueline Aramberri, from Bordeaux, France, will probably have to cancel their reservations.

Thus we are shown how quickly and how unexpectedly the vast shadows of war may descend any moment upon any community in the world, however remote it may be from the scenes of the conflict.

We are thereby reminded again also that the world is not such an infinitely big place as we may have one time imagined it to be.

IMPRESSING OUR VISITORS

Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Parrish of Clanton came to Montevallo Tuesday to bring their daughter, Miss Ola Mae, to enter Alabama College.

"We are greatly pleased with the spirit we observed at the college," said Dr. Parrish. "We found faculty members and student officers on hand to receive new students with cordiality, which fact, it appears, will serve to make the new students satisfied."

"I recall the day I first appeared on the scene as a student at Auburn," Dr. Parrish continued, "and the contrast between my experiences and that of a girl entering Alabama College is most interesting—in fact amusing."

STATE STOCK LAW

In spite of the world disturbance by European war, it is noteworthy that the Alabama legislature has succeeded in enacting a state-wide stock law which is said by Senator DeVane, stock law foe, "to meet approval of both sides."

We once thought an agreement in the legislature on state-wide stock law was as improbable as the peaceful reconciliation of Germany and Poland.

DRIVERS LICENSE

In a few weeks people who drive automobiles will be called upon to secure drivers licenses.

The law under which licenses will be secured this year is new and different. There are several points about the law which the public will be interested in knowing and understanding. We hope to have all the details for publication in advance of the time when new licenses must be secured.

We are told that one important difference in the new law is that licenses cannot be ordered from the probate judge by mail.

AN APPEAL TO LABOR

Bill Huie's Labor Day address at Boothton Monday was a scorching for some of the politicians, high and low. And it was not without a few sticklers for the men in the ranks of organized labor.

We listened to his speech which consumed a full hour and as a whole we can commend his thoughts to the people who constitute the labor movement.

Discussing the subject of legislation that affects the workers, he took the hide off of some of our lawmakers whose actions are openly inimical to the interest of labor as a unit and the working man as an individual.

Then he waded into the ranks of labor and scalded them going and coming on the question of their inability to vote. He bore down heavily in his appeal to the working man and union members to qualify themselves for participation in government by paying poll tax and qualifying to vote.

In a sweeping generalization of his theme, Mr. Huie demanded first of all the abolishment of poll tax as a prerequisite to voter qualification in Alabama.

THE PRESIDENT'S FINE ADDRESS

The President's address to the American people on Hitler's unprovoked assault upon civilization, is in good temper, good taste and full of common sense. It seems to be warmly received everywhere in the country. It is one of the finest state papers that he has yet written.

Mr. Roosevelt gives every assurance that reasonable persons can ask that the United States government will do everything within its power to keep this country out of the war that is now shaking the continent of Europe and the British Isles.

But at this point the President makes one remark which we think deserves applause.

We must be neutral in action, but the President cannot ask that Americans be "neutral in thought as well."

It has been noted that this phrase is a modification of President Wilson's famous phrase in 1914. The inexperienced Mr. Wilson adjudged the American people to be neutral in action as well as in thought.

The Wilsonian phrase was well-intended, but it may have misled the Germans and their allies. It may have lulled them into a false sense of security.

We have learned a lot since 1913, especially about German leadership. Mr. Roosevelt, aware as he is of the issues involved in the great human struggle, cannot, with dignity and sincerity ask the American people to refrain from passing moral judgment upon the act of a murderer. It is just as well that the German people know now as later what the free peoples of the world think of their remorseless, bestial, slave-driving ruler.

The citizens of this country, from President Roosevelt down, generally are against Hitler, however much they may respect and admire the masses of the German people. Moral judgments are surely in order in such a human crisis as this, and we are glad that America's leader is of the same opinion.—Montgomery Advertiser.

THE AMERICAN LEGION URGES NEUTRALITY

Speaking Sunday in Indianapolis, Stephen F. Chadwick, national commander of the American Legion, urged this country to maintain strict neutrality and to keep out of Europe's wars. In an impressive plea to the 1,030,000 members of the Legion, Commander Chadwick said:

"A state of war has existed at some place in this troubled world almost every day since the World War. We view today a situation in which, because of issues involved and former comrades in arms concerned, our natural and undeniable sympathies will constantly challenge our reason."

"The American Legion for the entire period of its existence has counseled the nation to a policy of neutrality to the end that we may not again be involved in another holocaust seemingly as futile for the ultimate peace of the European and Asiatic continents as was our participation in the World War."

"Our government's national policy is one of neutrality. It has been and is the American Legion's policy."

"Continuing our hopes and our prayers for a means of remaining at peace, informing our public officials that such is our greatest desire, let us avoid, and counsel all citizens to avoid, the thought, act, or deed which might threaten or disturb the peace of the Americans. To a generation that knows war from its participation in it, this today is the greatest and most solemn mission of the American Legion."

TWO ALABAMIANS ON NEUTRALITY

Senator Bankhead and former Governor Graves took the opportunity at Labor Day exercises in Birmingham to urge the people of this state to observe strict neutrality in the European conflict. The war being waged in Europe is not our war. It was not started by Americans. We have nothing to gain from it. It is our solemn duty, therefore, as the two Alabama political leaders said, to keep this country free and at peace despite the tyrannies and wars of other continents.—Montgomery Advertiser.

FARM NOTES

By A. A. Lauderdale,
County Agent

One sack of oats per mule planted on good land will take care of the feed needs next spring. Plant two bushels of oats per acre and top-dress with nitrate the first week in March.

Cottonseed are cheap and feed crops are short—so this year, farmers should swap seed for meal to feed the cows, mules and hogs. We will be glad to furnish instructions for feeding cottonseed meal to mules and hogs.

Good quality cotton will bring a premium on the market or in the government loan. If you have pure "gin day" or DPL cotton direct from the breeder, you should arrange to keep the seed pure by asking for a special gin day at the gin. If this office can be of service in this matter, call on us.

Farmers who turned a good crop of vetch and then had a chance to work the corn following this vetch have made a good crop of corn. The government pays for planting vetch and farmers can get the seed by making an assignment of their conservation payment. Now is the time to plan for a good crop next year. I want to urge you to make arrangements for seed and get them early. W. J. Bailey, Montevallo, has made approximately 100 bushels of corn per acre this year, and states that he is going to plant vetch on every acre of corn land this fall.

Crimson clover will do everything in building land that vetch and Austrian peas will do, and we can produce our own seed. Plant one to two acres of crimson clover as a seed patch.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Cody and son, Bud, of Rock Springs, Wyo., were here the past month visiting Mrs. Cody's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Woolley. They returned to their home last week.

Dr. and Mrs. W. D. Jackson spent last week-end with friends in Montgomery.

Grow A Pasture And Cut Feed Bills

Permanent pastures, even the best of them, do not furnish much grazing during certain months. Plant crops now to furnish some winter grazing and especially late winter and spring grazing. This will be valuable for the livestock and next spring you can delay heavy grazing on the improved permanent pasture until plants have made a good growth.

Here are some crops to plant now:

Rye and oats—Drill in early fall in cotton or corn middles, or broadcast two bushels of oats or four pecks of rye per acre. Top-dress with nitrogen as soon as plants are up. These crops, under average conditions, should be ready for grazing by December 1.

Italian rye grass—Sow 25 pounds per acre in September on a part of the pasture sod on which the soil has been loosened with a harrow set so as not to cut up the sod. Cover lightly. Top-dress with 15 to 36 pounds of nitrogen as soon as plants are up. (It has been difficult to obtain good stands on heavy clay soils of North Alabama.)

Crimson clover—It is one of our best winter and spring grazing crops. Sow alone or on pasture sod. Instructions for growing this crop will be furnished on request.

Plant some grazing crops now to cut feed bills.—A. A. Lauderdale, County Agent.

IN MEMORIAM

(Dedicated to the memory of W. C. Underwood, who passed away February 24, 1939.)

There came a call from Heaven
Whispering to our father.
An angel was the bearer,
It bade our father go.
His absence makes us lonely,
Our hearts are filled with sorrow.
We only trust we will meet him
On the awakening of tomorrow.
Came a messenger from Heaven
Where there is no pain or strife,
Conveying from God a promise
Proclaiming a sweeter life.
To this our loved one yielded,
And at His great command,
Enlisted and was numbered
In the snow-white angel band.
Just a bit of sunshine,
Just a bit of love,
Just a little flower
Broken by hands above
And placed up in Heaven
Under God's loving care,
And on some sweet morning
We will meet our loved one there.
